

Greater Noida Sun Organofarms Site

Greater Noida is one of the well planned city of India. At a distance of 25 Km from New Delhi it lies within National Capital Region (NCR) of India and it is just about 10 km away from Noida, which is one of the largest industrial townships in Asia. With so many educational institutes & offices of big IT companies it has emerged as a city with great infrastructural facilities. Greater Noida, powered by the Yamuna Expressway, along with its development parcels on both sides, would become a unique development model. Once the Jewar airport is sanctioned, the area will see a rapid growth in investments that, in turn, would trigger employment opportunities.

Garh Ganga Sun Organofarms Site

Garh Ganga has considerable religious importance among the Hindus. This is the nearest place to Delhi where the river Ganga Flows. Although it is not as big as other holy cities on the banks of the river Ganga, but since Haridwar and Rishikesh are now a part of Uttrakhand - the new state carved out of Uttar Pradesh - the U.P. government is planning to invest a lot of money to develop Brij Ghat on the lines of other holy cities. Thousands of devotees come here to take the ritual bath in the river Ganga daily, and especially during the full moon day in the month of Kartik (called Kartik Purnima) of the Hindu calendar (usually falling in the months of October and November by the Gregorian calendar). During Dusherra too there is a big fair held here.
